4.2. Reattempting Invoice Submission After Connection Loss

In situations where an invoice submission is interrupted due to internet connectivity failures or other unforeseen technical issues, it is essential to resubmit the affected invoice through the Digital Invoicing System. The system does not feature automatic retries for failed uploads; therefore, the invoice must be submitted again to ensure its successful recording within the FBR's digital platform.

Resubmission of the invoice helps maintain the accuracy and completeness of the invoicing data, which is critical for compliance with tax regulations. Users can locate the original invoice within their records and proceed to transmit it once more via the system's interface. This process safeguards against any inconsistencies or data gaps that might otherwise arise from incomplete submissions.
